I remember u telling me words couldn't express the emotions u felt when grandma passed away & how everything felt surreal without her..that a big void & emptiness inside your heart was about the best u could explain it..the feelings of missing her & hearing her voice ate away at u making u feel sick with dread inside..of how without her u felt like u had nothing or nobody & were alone~

Your father was a great man. We lived in the same building on Sheridan Street for over 10 years and he was already great to me. We spent a lot of hours talking on the bench in the parking area. We were both a Navy Veterans and I considered him to be a very good friend.
