To my one and only greatest love, Thank you for 45 plus years of love that you shared with me. Truly we went through hard times and good times, in sickness and in health, through misunderstandings and laughter. You have been my light in my heart, my constant companion, my life. You willingly sacrificed, went through hardships, always with joy and hope for a better future. You are my best love, my support. I'll thank our God that you are with Him and no longer enduring lack of sleep and multiple health challenges. You are at rest. Missing you so much and always, always cherishing the memories of when we started, our journey, your patience, your understanding, your strength, your love. Am trying to live on without you. Need God's grace and strength...
