Mommy there is no words that can be said to take the pain I feel I wish we had another day a week a month a year to be together. I know you are reunited with grandma grandpa and your brother and the pain and suffering is no more. I'm so sorry I couldn't do more for you I tried so hard to care for you the best way I could. I'm sorry I wasn't there when you took your final breath. Mommy I miss you and life will not be the same without you. Please continue to watch over us. Loving you more then yesterday.

Ashley Lelepali lit a candle in honor of Harilysa.

I'll always remember how much you loved your grandbabies and sang all the nursery songs to them. I remember the pahke medicine you used to rub them down, front to back, on their feet and put socks on when they were sick. I'd get so mad because it actually burns lol but to this day I still use it and swear by it that it works miracles. Thank you for giving me the love of my life, your son and for welcoming me into your family. I'm sorry that we didn't have enough time and sorry we didn't make the time. We love you and hope you are dancing and singing with the Angels. ☐☐☐
