Sunnie Dee Sinclair,

Allen Bernard Ray, was married to my sister Barbrea for 45 years. I remember when she introduced him to me my mom and dad, he stood tall and stern and said with a confident tone 'hello'. We all go thru roller coaster rides several times in our lifetime and I think at that time she was on one of them. She became a happy camper and was enjoying her new found love. Al was always pleasant and never had anything bad to say and if he did he said it with finesse or humor, I never saw him angry or lose his cool. We had family holidays at their home and almost every occasion had a sticky situation after that he still held his happy "I don't give a damn" attitude. Every time my sister would talk about him or to him she would have this big drawn smile and her eyes little closed like a Japanese girl and would say "yea honey" and his answer would always be "Even if he wasn't listening that's right". I know my sister will always hold that smile in her heart for him. He reminds me of a strict harsh drill Sergeant but with a heart. I will call him Big Al cuz that was some big shoes to fill being married to Barbrea Sinclair. He regulated her and knew just what she needed when she got fussy. He will be missed along with his great honors and up most respect he accomplished serving his country. "BIG AL"

“ Dad was fun! Happy and laughing! I liked that about him. He loved with hugs and kisses, I liked that about him too! If you needed him then just call and he'd help if he could, always willing to lend a hand. I talked to him on the phone weekly and he wasn't one for conversations but a quick how you doing and as long as things were fine he was done. I will miss those phone calls! You are missed Dad, I love you! Amy
