“ I’m so fortunate to be able to have had the opportunity to work with Char for 10 years until her retirement from Straub in 2018. Although I first met Char in 2008, I was fully aware of her reputation for excellence in patient care as a diabetes nurse educator. Respected by her professional peers, she served as an expert resource to many. Char spoke with gentleness and authority while listening patiently. She was kind, gracious, fun- loving, and possessed a wonderful sense of humor; and she loved good chocolate. Over the years Char and I developed a cherished friendship. I’m blessed and grateful for the special memories. Thank you Char for the gift of you, forever in our hearts.

“ I first met Char when we were students at the Queen’Hospital School of Nursing. As single, young student nurses, we were required to stay at Harkness Dormitory. Since we were from off island, we used to spend more time together; going down to the basement to do laundry and iron clothes! Char was petite so she was one who received special nourishment. She was the sweetest girl and followed all the rules. Unlike some of us. She was a good example of a hard worker. Her patients were lucky to have her. After we completed the nursing program, I returned to Hilo but kept in contact with Char. Whenever I returned to Oahu, I would try to get together with classmates and Char was one of them. She came to visit me several times here in Hilo. I looked forward to our visits. My roommate and I visited Char at Straub when she had her lung surgery. Char and I kept in touch. I hadn’t heard from her for awhile and I knew something was wrong. She told me what had transpired. I was devastated! I would write her notes and send her messages. She called me and she sounded short of breath. Then I got a message from Teani saying that her mother wanted me to know how much I meant to her. So like Char. I just felt at that time she was saying goodbye. I am fortunate to call her friend! I miss you, Char! Love you!
